USN-4881-1: vulnerability

containerd

It was discovered that containerd incorrectly handled certain environment variables. Contrary to expectations, a container could receive environment variables defined for a different container, possibly containing sensitive information.